TERMS OF SALE

This is a Mail Bid Sale as well as a Public Auction. Mail Bids will be accepted for both the Public Auction Session, as well as the Mail Bid Section. We act as the Agent for all Mail Bidders, and will secure the lot for the Mail Bidder at the next regular advance, approximately 5%, over the second high bid, whether by Mail or by Person. There is no charge for this service, and in many cases a Mail Bidder will receive a lot at a much lower figure than the maximum authorized. Mail Bids will be accepted until the actual starting time for each Public Session, and until 5:00 P.M. April 6th for the Mail Bid only part.

All lots offered will be sold to the highest bidder, without reserve.

All items offered are guaranteed to be genuine and as listed.

Lots to be mailed to addresses not in the United States of America or its Territories will be made only at the risk of the purchaser.

We cannot obtain insurance on material sent by U.S. Registered Mail to other countries, therefore, bidders must provide their own insurance or assume the risk of non-delivery. We can obtain insurance for small amounts when shipping by U.S. Air Parcel Post or for larger amounts when shipping by Air Freight through a private carrier. Both Parcel Post and Air Freight require that we furnish a detailed listing of the contents of the package, as well as the price of each item. Since this information is placed on the outside of the package, we feel it only adds to the risk of non-delivery. Foreign bidders must supply full detailed shipping instructions and agree to all terms as listed hereon, before shipment will be made.

Error on the part of the Cataloguer will be cheerfully corrected. Please check your bid sheet carefully, as we cannot accept responsibility for the errors of others.

Postage and insurance will be added to all lots sent by mail. Unless otherwise indicated by the bidder, we will use our own discretion as to whether material will be sent by Air or Surface Mail.

State Sales Tax will be added where applicable.

Terms are Cash. Checks payable in U.S. funds only will be accepted from persons known to us, or from those who furnish satisfactory references and proper identification. We must have ample time to check references if they are to be acceptable to us. Payments made by Bank Transfer from foreign accounts must be made in U.S. Dollars to the Account of Jess Peters, Inc., in care of the First National Bank of Decatur, through any U.S. correspondent bank.

Total to all coins remains with the cataloguer until paid for in full.

Material offered in this sale may be examined by appointment only, at our bank, during banking hours through March 29th, and at the auction site prior to each session.

Prices Realized lists will be sent to all persons on our subscription plan. Others may order them at $1, and we appreciate payment being made with the request. Lists are usually mailed within ten days after the sale closes.

We normally issue at least 8 Mail Bid and/or Public Auction Sales each year. Sample catalogs will be sent persons requesting them. Free by surface mail or to U.S. addresses. Air Service to other countries is available. Please inquire about charges.

CONSIGNMENTS ARE SOLICITED FOR FUTURE SALES.

THOMAS FAISTAUER

Thomas was born in Salzburg, Austria in 1924. His education was principally obtained in Vienna, including an additional year of economics following World War II.

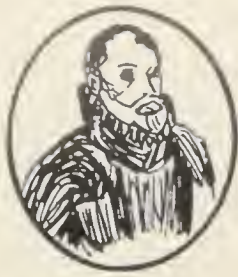

Migrating to Brazil in 1950, Thomas opened first an antique shop, and later developed a manufacturing company, building furniture, interior decorations and allied items. Because of the political unrest that swept over Brazil following the Government of Jouscelino Kubitschek, Thomas discontinued the manufacturing business, intending to return to antiquities, specializing in 'small objects' only. This specialization quite naturally led Thomas to "Coins," which he found very fascinating. Following the path of many, Thomas subscribed to the leading Coin Publications, joined such organizations as A.N.S. and A.N.A., and began collecting in many areas: World Crowns, Spanish American coins, Roman Denarii, Medieval Portugal included. His real interest soon became centered around the Spanish American 8 Reales field, and Thomas found himself selling off the other coins in order to have more time and money for his 'Specialty.'

Moving to Lisbon in 1966, finding himself within easy range of the principal coin markets of Europe, London, Paris, Zurich and Amsterdam, and with direct flying routes to New York and Los Angeles, Thomas began devoting more and more of his time to Numismatics. His greatest interest continued in the Spanish American 8 Reales field. Accepting any grade of coin at first, Thomas quickly developed a taste for quality and seldom missed an opportunity to upgrade a specimen already in his collection. The extremely high quality of the material offered in this sale will attest to Thomas' statement that "many of my best pieces are the result of 3, 4 and even 5 attempts to secure the best available." Some of the specimens offered were purchased from leading dealers and Auction Houses around the world, however, many were secured at or near their place of origin.

As with most of us, interests and desires change, and after the sale of his Spanish American collection is completed, Thomas plans to devote more time and attention to the narrower field of Portuguese Colonial, which is now his primary area of interest.

In his last letter to us, Thomas reported that the best years of his life have been those which were devoted primarily to Numismatics. Thomas, it is a certain fact that your friends around the World wish you many more of the same.

PHILIP II (The Prudent)

1527 - 1598

Born May 21, 1527. The son of Charles V and Isabella of Portugal.

Regent of Spain in 1543 at age of 16. King in 1556 at age of 34.

Married to his cousin, Mary of Portugal, in 1543. Mary died a year later, leaving one son, Don Carlos.

Morganic contract with Dona Isabel de Osario for several years. This union produced several children, who though considered legitimate, were not of a social standard that made them acceptable as heirs.

Married Mary Tudor, Queen of England, in 1553. No offspring resulted from this marriage.

After Mary's death in 1558, a marriage of convenience was proposed to England's new Queen, who declined.

Married Elizabeth, the 14 year old daughter of Henry II of France, by proxy. Elizabeth had originally been betrothed to Philip's son, Don Carlos, however political expediency dictated the change of plans. Elizabeth became one of the most popular and best loved Queens in all of Spanish history.

Don Carlos, heir apparent, died in 1568 after having been arrested and jailed by his father. Some say Don Carlos was murdered by order of the King. Others say that he died of his own lunacy.

Elizabeth died in childbirth, after having previously presented Philip with two daughters.

Married Anne in 1570, who was the daughter of his sister Maria and Emperor Maximilian. Anne died in 1580, leaving an infant son, Philip III, and two other children, who died soon after their mother's death.

The reign of Philip II was long and eventful. At one time he was the most powerful Monarch in all the world. Eventually, however, he lost supremacy of the seas to England, supremacy of religion to the Pope. The rot of gout which ended Philip's life in 1598 was symbolic of the political rot that left Spain, at his death, still united but in the very depths of poverty and misery.

PHILIP III (The Virtuous)

1578 - 1621

Born April 14, 1578, the son of Philip II and Anne, who was the daughter of Maximilian II.

Became King in 1598, following the death of his father.

Married Margaret of Austria, by proxy, in 1598.

Philip placed most matters of government in his court favorite, Lerma, and devoted most of his time to extravagant parties, personal pleasure and religious devotions.

A son, Philip IV, was born in 1605 and betrothed almost immediately to Elizabeth of Bourbon, daughter of Henry IV of France, the marriage being performed by proxy early in 1615 with the bride joining her husband later that same year amid one of the most lavish celebrations ever held by the Spanish nobility.

The reign of Philip II produced the 30 year war, a vast increase in taxation and starvation, greatly increased political trouble, both internal and external, and little else. Philip III died in 1621, praying to the end for longer life, that he might start all over on a better track.

PHILIP IV (The Solemn)

1605 - 1665

Born April 8, 1605, the son of Philip III and Margaret, sister of Emperor Ferdinand II.

During the first few years of the reign of Philip IV, Spain accomplished great military and naval victories, both in the new world as well as in the old. Coming back to a degree of her former greatness, Spain began to look upon Philip as "The Great." Later, when victories became sparse, and defeats more prominent, Philip turned more and more to personal pleasure and to the arts. His interest in poetry and literature earned for him, for a time at least, the title of "The Planet King." It was his habit of seldom permitting emotion to show on his face in public, however, that earned for him the title of "Philip the Solemn." It is said that Philip was seen to laugh only three times during his entire reign.

A son, Charles II, was born in 1661, just four years prior to the death of Philip.

CHARLES II (The Desired) (The Bewitched)

1661 - 1700

Born November 11, 1661, the son of Philip IV and Mariana of Austria.

Charles ascended to the throne of Spain in 1665, at the age of four, under the regency of his mother, who was aided by a council established by Philip IV just before his death.

During the Regency of the Queen-Mother, who was far more Austrian than Spanish, financial and territorial troubles continued to multiply. Morgan and his buccaneers were busy helping themselves to the treasures of the New World. The large amount of silver accumulated at Porto Bello, Isthmus of Panama was lost, and some 70 ships were lost to hurricanes. All this led to increases in the already excessive taxation that was threatening the very life of Spain.

Weak, puny and frail from birth, Charles was never educated. It was feared that learning would be too much for his delicate condition. Charles remained under the influence and domination of the Queen-Mother until 1677, when Don Juan, through political maneuvering, took over the reigns of the government. Through Don Juan's influence, Charles was betrothed and married to Princess Marie Louise of Orleans in 1679. After the death of Don Juan in 1679, control of the government passed from hand to hand, each leaving matters somewhat worse than his predecessor. Nearly the last rational act of Charles, and perhaps the most important act of his reign, was to will the Kingdom of Spain to Philip of Anjou, ending the House of Hapsburg and beginning the House of Bourbon.

PHILIP V (The Courageous)

1683 - 1746

Born December 19, 1683, the son of the Dauphin Louis and Maria Anna of Bavaria.

Philip left France in 1701 to claim his new kingdom, and quickly found that because of past troubles, his legacy was not as desirable as he had been led to believe. Instead of attempting to put affairs in order, he turned instead to dissipation and self-indulgence.

Married in 1701 to Marie Louis, daughter of Victor Amadeus of Savoy, who presented Philip with four sons before her death early in 1714. Shortly after their marriage, Philip left Spain for war in Italy, leaving the government of Spain in the hands of his 14 year old bride, who in spite of her tender years, proved to be the most capable overseer of the government that Spain had seen in many years. Badgered by most other governments and at war on nearly all borders, it was not until after the death of his wife that Philip was fully recognized as the actual king of Spain. Left to his own resources by the death of Marie Louis, Philip lost no time in remarrying, this time to Elizabeth of Parma, who dominated him completely from the very beginning. There were four more sons and three daughters by this marriage. Tired of war and court intrigue, and given to long periods of depression, Philip abdicated the throne in January of 1724, in favor of his eldest son Louis, with the intention of retiring with his wife to his favorite hunting lodge high in the mountains of Segovia. Louis did only what was dictated to him by his step mother, and ruled only until August, 1724, when he died of small pox, bringing his father back to the throne. From this second ascension to the throne until his death in July, 1746, Philip spent more and more time in retirement, moody and lethargic, leaving the government of Spain to Elizabeth, whose chief interests seemed to be gaining territorial rights for her sons. Philip died of apoplexy on July 9th, 1746.

LOUIS I (The Well Beloved)

1707 - 1724

Born August 15, 1707, the son of Philip V and Maria Louisa of Savoy.

Louis ruled only seven months, completely under the domination of his step mother. He was married briefly to Luisa Isabel of Orleans, no progeny, and died of small pox on August 24, 1724.

FERDINAND VI (The Enlightened)

1713 - 1759

Born September 23, 1713, the fourth son of Philip V and Maria Louise of Savoy.

Ferdinand gained along with the throne, a major war with Austria and a Spain very close to bankruptcy and ruin. During his short reign of only thirteen years, a durable and lasting peace came to Spain, the fleet was rebuilt, and perhaps for the first time in over a century, there were ample funds in the treasury to carry on the business of government. Ferdinand was married to Maria Barbara of Braganza, whom he loved deeply. They had no children. Following the death of his Queen in August of 1758, Ferdinand withdrew from the world, became melancholic, lethargic and practically insane. He died on August 10th, 1759. Peace and prosperity were not his only gifts to his country, as both King and Queen had a love of the arts and sciences. They developed universities and academies of learning, provided subsidies for study abroad, and promoted intellectual endeavors at every opportunity. This was truly the greatest age of enlightenment that Spain had ever enjoyed.

CHARLES III (The Philosophic)

1716 - 1788

Born January 20, 1716, the son of Philip V and Elizabeth Farnese.

Married to Maria Amalie of Saxony, the royal couple produced six sons and seven daughters.

Charles III received heirship to the throne of Spain when his elder brother was passed over because of imbecility. His reign started well. Madrid, having long been a pesthole and perhaps the most backward capital on the continent, was completely refurbished. Charles soon found himself at war with England, however, and in rapid succession lost a major battle in Portugal, large territories in the Caribbean, Havana, Cuba, and Madrid. Havana and Manila were quickly regained by treaty, and by giving up Florida and other rights. During the period of the American Revolution, Spain again declared war on England, not clearly as an ally of the Americans, but again in league with France, in an attempt to sweep the world of English colonies and to actually invade the subjugate England herself.

In spite of the great losses and costs of wars, Spain progressed greatly under Charles III. Charles was capable, just, and the champion of his people. He instituted reforms that brought relief, even a sort of prosperity to the working classes, at the expense of the nobility and the wealthy clergy. He died on December 14, 1788, commenting on his death bed that he "had always forgiven his enemies the moment after they had offended him."

CHARLES III

1748 - 1819

Born November 12, 1748, the son of Charles III and Maria Amelia of Saxony.

Betrothed and married at a very tender age to Maria Louisa of Parma. The union produced six sons and seven daughters.

Ruled from the death of his father in 1788 until he surrendered the throne to Napoleon in 1808 in exchange for a castle, grounds and pension.

Charles III lost most of the great fleet that his father had built to Admiral Nelson during the Battle of Trafalgar in 1805, and during his reign Spain lost most of the progress that had been made during the previous reign. Charles had one moment of expected greatness, when through secret treaty he sent an army of 16,000 men to aid Napoleon in Denmark. In return he was to assume the title of Emperor of the Americas. Napoleon had other secret deals as well, however, and negotiated with Ferdinand, heir to the throne, to undermine the government of Charles. Ferdinand was successful to the extent that he brought about first an attempted abdication of Charles in his own favor, then the final surrender of the throne to Napoleon. Charles lived out his life in retirement, refusing to return to the throne when the opportunity came by reason of the great dislike for Ferdinand and Napoleon's reverses. He died in Rome in 1819, shortly after the death of his wife.

FERDINAND VII

1782 - 1833

Born October 12, 1782, the son of Charles III and Maria Louisa of Parma.

Ferdinand was heir to the throne because his elder brother was unfit to rule because of insanity.

Married to Maria Antonietta, daughter of the King of Naples, in 1802. She died in 1806 and Ferdinand was suspected by some of foul play, however, nothing was ever proven.

Ferdinand was proclaimed King on March 19th, 1808, after his father went into seclusion. Four days later Napoleon entered Madrid, proclaimed the end of the Bourbon rule, interred Ferdinand at Valeney and installed Joseph Napoleon as King of Spain. In 1813, following Wellington's great victory over Napoleon and the start of the invasion of France, Napoleon released Ferdinand, who returned to the throne amid justifiable clamor by the people for a Constitutional government. During the next twenty years Ferdinand ruled frivolously and with a wanton indulgence of whim. He executed thousands of Spanish citizens for political reasons, sent over 250,000 more to their deaths in futile wars and lost all of Spain's New World possessions to successful revolutionary forces. Childless through his first three marriages, he married his niece, Maria Cristina of Naples in 1829, who presented him with two daughters. The eldest, Isabel, ascended the throne under the regency of the Queen-Mother upon his death in September of 1833.

The seeds of discontent were sown during the reign of Philip II - nurtured for over 100 years through the reigns of succeeding Kings, lay dormant and might have died when Ferdinand VI and Charles III gave the people an earnest attempt at justice, were fanned white hot under Charles III. The great people of Spain, proud, long suffering, intensely patriotic, had had enough, and the years of Ferdinand brought them into full bloom. His death triggered the start of a long and bloody civil war.

Immoral, vicious, frivolous, self-indulgent, courageous, dull, phlegmatic, melancholic, self-possessed, insane, slothful, pathetic, imbecelic, senile, self-distrustful, shy, wasteful, epileptic, grave, wanton, licentious, capable, distrustful, orderly, retiring, beloved, adulteror, persecutor, self-righteous, childish, evil, despoiled, debased, torpid, horrible to look at, revengeful, generous, fanatical, religious, idle, pleasure loving, well meaning, inept, devout, haughty, merciless, scornful, hostile, modest, conscientious, inoffensive, laborious and self-sufficient.

These are descriptive adjectives, used by many historians to describe the various Spanish Kings to whom we are indebted for the magnificent collecting field of the 8 Reales of Spanish America. Some were deserved, some were not. Some applied to one Monarch more than to another. Many apply to the leaders of today's world equally as well. Regardless of the historians choice of words and regardless of our personal interpretations, the Spanish Kings, as related to the coinage of Spanish America, have bequeathed to us all a most fascinating field of study, heritage of intrigue, court diplomacy, tension, lies, manipulation, bribery, double dealing, treachery, oppression, war, war within war, excessive taxation, family jealousy, national jealousy, murder, vague promises, flattering attention, assassination, dishonor, patrimony, secrecy, pragmatics, treaties of convenience, banquets, grandeur, poverty, fiestas, splendor, etiquette, sham, lavishness, conditional treaties, matrimonial bargaining, defiance, extortion, piracy, great victories and ignoble defeats.

If the descriptive adjectives of the Royalty, and the historical events of the centuries seem to fit the present state of world affairs, we may well recall that now, just as then, the common people, the average Joe, must pay the price of the folly of the few and suffer the tragic consequences of both victory and defeat. The wealth, the silver and gold of the new world, were vital to the leaders of the old in carrying out their intents and purposes, whether good or bad.

It is the money of the new world, principally the OCHO REALES of New Spain, that form the nucleus of this catalog and provide the key that unlocks the Numismatic Heritage willed to us by the Hapsburg and the Bourbon Kings of Spain.

A word of caution to the more zealous of collectors may not be amiss. All the truth will never be known, nor will a complete collection ever be assembled. The efforts of each of us will, however, bring forth some portion of knowledge, lost or forgotten, and may even uncover a previous unknown rarity, to add to the ever growing list of coins and culture that are ours by the right of 'Divine Succession.'
